

EVIDENCE Transition Phrases	EXPLANATION Transition Phrases
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● The author describes the _____ as, ● The description of the _____ present in the text is, ● Another example of _____ description is, ● Additionally the _____ is described as, ● The author describes the _____ at the beginning as, ● The _____ description present in the beginning of the text is, ● By the end of the story the _____ is described as, ● The development of the _____ can be seen when, ● The author sets up the reader’s expectation with, ● The circumstances at the beginning of the story are described as, ● The author changes the story with, ● The _____ is created when, ● The _____ in the story is described as, ● The description of the _____ is, ● Another description of the _____ is ● The film/article/activity explains that ● An example from _____ reveals that ● Furthermore, in _____ we find ● Similarly, it is clear from _____ that ● In one instance you find ● _____ also establishes 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● This shows that ● Therefore ● Consequently ● This is the _____ because ● This demonstrates that ● As a result ● For this reason ● The _____ is interesting because ● This creates _____ by ● This demonstrates that ● This further illustrates ● It is clear that ● This indicates ● This describes ● As you can see ● This confirms that ● This develops _____ by ● This creates the understanding that ● This changes the story because ● This alters the readers understanding by ● This stands for ● This symbolizes ● This creates meaning by ● The significance of the _____ is